

WHITE PROVISION

DEVELOPMENT COMPANY

To Whom It May Concern:

Jason Long has been doing my stained, sealed and polished floors at White Provision for over a year now. I would give him and his staff the highest of recommendations. We renovated a 100 year old building in Atlanta that provided a lot of different existing concrete conditions. JM Flooring Solutions really has an expansive knowledge of what products and applications are available for many different conditions. They were able to find many different solutions for the various conditions, uses, and budgets in the building.

Working with their installation crews has also made our project run much more smoothly. Being both the Developer and General Contractor we often find ourselves pressed for time at the end of the projects. JM Flooring has always been completely accommodating to working with whatever schedule we have needed them to work under. Their staff is very courteous and professional to work around.

I have worked with many different contractors over the years and would rank them among the best. I think very highly of both Jason Long and JM Flooring and hope that you have a similar working experience with them on your next project.

Sincerely,

Tyler Gaines
